ADVANCED
MANAGEMENT PROGRAM

Program Overview

Preparing today's leaders for tomorrow's challenges

One of the most difficult challenges for senior leaders is navigating organizational uncertainty. Navigating in a context of global economic uncertainty, disruption, technological changes, and shifting customer behavior often forces leaders to create an accelerated pace. This agility will continue to be essential.

Your organization's leadership and ability to learn faster than competitors may well be the only true sustainable competitive advantage. Partnering with us as one of the world's top executive education institutions and joining this unique new program can help your organization and leaders leap and stay ahead of others.

Who is the Advanced Management Program for?

Custom-designed for C-level executives, experienced senior-level managers and business owners.

Why join our Advanced Management Program?

- State-of-the-art program and learning methods

The program shapes participants' leadership versatility, which is key to drive their company toward success. More diverse ideas are better than similar ideas, and the ability to integrate and situationally adapt them with versatility makes all the difference.

We share the latest trends, approach challenges in new ways, inspire and practice new behaviors, boost and retain engagement and support your meaningful impact.

- Designed specifically for the region

The program brings global and regional best and next practices into a coherent learning journey. Delivered in the GCC, with modules in Doha, Riyadh, and Muscat, the Advanced Management Program focuses on participants from this dynamic, fast-growth market.

We write and publish unique business cases on firms in the region - business cases that are brought into the Advanced Management Program classroom, ensuring further relevance of the learning.

- Exchange knowledge with outstanding participants

We bring selected individuals together who can share experiences, face similar challenges, and operate under the same business and cultural context is highly valuable.

- Accelerate your growth through hands-on personal development

The Advanced Management Program sheds light on what truly constitutes a compelling vision and makes strategies work. We emphasize managing complex stakeholder relations and moving people with hard, soft, and heart skills. Through personal coaching, your leadership strengths and gaps will be assessed, while equipping you with the right tools to achieve your goals.

The Action Learning Project, core to the program, allows each participant to focus on a real business challenge, delivering a set of recommendations that will bring measurable impact to their organization.

Program Content

Enhance your leadership skills to drive excellence in your organization

Leaders need to continue to invest in themselves in order to drive growth in the organization. Knowing your blind spots, addressing them, and leading change are critical in a fast-paced competitive environment.

As a leader and the leader of an organization, you need to be conscious of the challenges you face in how to ensure sustainable success.

Today, we see that many challenges remain for leaders.
